Selectmen's Meeting

WASTE TO ENERGY STUDY

Mattapoisett Selectmen considered the alternative to the landfill solution of waste disposal as representatives of SEMASS appeared at the Selectmen's invitation to explain the operation of the plant soon to be built and operated in Rochester. Director George Tobey spoke following a slide presentation and answered questions after expanding on the information imparted by the film.

The first waste to energy plant built by this firm was in Hamilton, Ontario, about 10 years ago. The Rochester plant will be located on Route 28 on the Middleboro-Rochester line on a 100 acre site in Rochester. Tobey said that a contract has been signed with Commonwealth Electric to buy the power produced in the plant and that the various state and federal permits have either been issued or are being processed at this time. He said that SEMASS is seeking an article in the warrants of the town meetings of the interested towns to ask approval of the right of the Selectmen to negotiate a contract with SEMASS. Tobey said that towns situated within a 15 mile radius are prime prospects because of their ability to haul rubbish directly to the plant.

Tobey said the cost per ton delivered to the plant would be $12. He said that this fee could be reduced in the future should the cost of electricity continue to increase until it surpasses 8¢ per kilowatt. It would then be possible to make refunds to the communities according to the agreement.

Dan Lee, chairman of the Board of Health, estimated that Mattapoisett collects 6 tons per day off season and 8 tons per day during on season. The winter 75 ton and summer 100 ton loads at $12. per ton would be in addition to the collection contract which presently costs the town $45,000 per year. Lee said that the town would have to maintain its own landfill in any case because SEMASS would not accept bulky objects such as refrigerators, stoves, etc., auto tires and tree stumps. Tobey said that SEMASS could not handle these items but the town could get out of the landfill operation if a private dump could be found to accept them.

Selectmen said that they were advocates of this method of rubbish disposal but that it appeared to increase the cost to the town in substantial amounts. The Mattapoisett landfill is ten years old and has been well managed and is estimated to have a potential life until 2020. Tobey agreed that the town is in a unique and fortunate situation but he said that he still felt that any town in close proximity should look at the opportunity most seriously to direct haul to the SEMASS plant. He said that as electricity continues to climb in price the fee could continue to decrease until the refund could possibly eliminate the disposal fee.

The Selectmen requested that SEMASS prepare an analysis to show the benefits and costs comparison between the present system and a contract with the waste to energy plant.

CONSIDER REGIONAL COMMUNICATIONS

Selectmen met with Police Chief James Moran and Fire Chief Paul Bradley to discuss a 3-town communication system. It was emphasized by Chairman William Hubbard that this was only a preliminary discussion. Hubbard said the town must explore all avenues of possible economy and consider any saving of substantial money. He said it may be that this is not the way to go but we have to take a look. Hubbard told Moran that it would not be considered if someone was going to lose his job.

The breakdown of the cost of operation of the police control conter shows expenses of $7934.42. The balance of the cost is personnel salary of $56,797.13, 8% retirement of $4,543.77, Blue Cross, $5,261.04; and insurance for the employees of $70.56. This adds up to a payroll cost of $66,672.50 of the total cost of $74,606.92.

It was pointed out by both Chiefs Moran and Bradley that a tri-town situation is a loosening of home rule and that Mattapoisett may have procedures others towns do not follow. They indicated that they both had many questions that needed to be answered before they could begin to consider the merger.

Heart Answers

WHAT IS CHOLESTEROL?

Cholesterol is a fatty substance found in animal tissue. Primary sources of cholesterol in the American diet are fatty meats, egg yolks, and whole milk dairy products. Cholesterol is essential for certain body processes, but the amount the body manufactures is sufficient for these needs. High levels of cholesterol in the bloodstream are associated with a higher risk of heart disease and stroke. This risk can be reduced by adopting an eating pattern moderate in cholesterol-containing foods and saturated (animal) fats that can increase the cholesterol level in the blood. Contact your local American Heart Association for more information.

Letter to the Editor

Your editorial of February 24 entitled "Russian Roulette" and the letter from Mr. Eugene Hotte in the same issue were based on the premise that if both sides possess enough nuclear weapons they will never be used in a war. What is "enough"? Today the U.S. and Russia between them possess 50,000 nuclear weapons. Statistics tell us that we have the potential to kill every Russian 40 times; they can kill every American 20 times. One 20-megaton bomb can kill 20 million people; one 15-megaton bomb can spread substantial contamination over 7,000 square miles. The 8,000 physicians, scientists and concerned citizens who comprise an organization known as Physicians for Social Responsibility warn that there will be no victors in a nuclear war--only the dead and dying. And the risk of a nuclear accident increases with every weapon.

Without meaning to, I'm sure, your editorial and Mr. Hotte's letter suggest that we follow the example of the Russians and leave all decisions in this area to our leaders. The current administration plans to spend an additional $200,000,000,000 over the next five years on delivery systems for new and increasingly lethal nuclear weapons. Vice President Bush has stated that a "limited" nuclear war can be won; Eugene Rostow, Director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, made the curious statement that "Japan after all, not only survived but flourished after the nuclear attack!"

Russian newspapers and television are presenting a realistic discussion of the facts about nuclear weapons. Soviet physicians and scientists are active in educating the public about various aspects of the arms race. Over the years the Soviet Union has made, according to the American Friends Service Committee, over 100 concrete proposals for peace and disarmament.

In my opinion, a bi-lateral stop to the production of nuclear arms is an idea whose time has come.

RED CROSS VOLUNTEER SPEAKS AT ORRJHS

TALK ON MENTAL RETARDATION

On Friday, February 26th, Mr. Rory McFee came to talk to Team 7 East about mental retardation. Mr. McFee presently works with the G.L.D. (General Learning Disability) students at ORRJHS. He explained that mentally retarded people learn slowly, but most of them are physically coordinated. They can play sports and do other things normal people do.

Mr. McFee stressed the fact that mental retardation and mental illness are two completely different things. He talked about causes of handicaps, mental illnesses, and mental retardation.

Before Mr. McFee came to work at Old Rochester Regional Junior High School with the GLD students, he worked in an institution helping mentally retarded people to get jobs.

This is the second time Mr. McFee came to talk to the 7 East students. On his first visit he did a follow-up on the movies, "Bill" and "The Kid from Nowhere". The questions that were asked were very sensible and once again Mr. McFee succeeded in keeping the students' attention. TABOR WINS CLASS "A" WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIP

In a heart-stopping close contest, Tabor won the New England Independent School Class "A" Wrestling Tournament on Saturday, February 27, by a mere 12 points over favored Cushing Academy. Tabor led throughout the tournament, but victory was illusive until the 177 lb. final when Exeter's Doug Kendall decisioned Cushing's Matt Rousseau and only ensured when Heavyweight Kevin Wattles of Andover pinned the Cushing Heavyweight, Sigel. Wattles was named the Ted Seabrooke Outstanding Wrestler at the close of the tournament.

Final team scores ran as follows: Tabor 133, Cushing 121, Deerfield 104, Northfield-Mt. Hermon 95, Worcester 80 1/2, of the Hmong women of southeast Asia will be presented by Chang Xiong on Sunday afternoon, March 14, at 2:00. This event runs in conjunction with the March exhibit at The Gallery, which visually explores this intricate, colorful work, called "Pa Ndau". The symbolism of the designs, along with the background of the technique and insight into the culture, will be topics for discussion. To accompany this will very likely be a music and dance demonstration by another member of the Hmong community of Rhode Island. For this event a small donation will be asked.

For more information contact The Gallery at 993-2248. The Gallery is located at 64 Fort Street, Fairhaven.

Republicans: State Convention

On Saturday, March 6, the 1982 Massachusetts Republican Pre-Primary Convention was held at the Boston-Sheraton. Of the 1380 delegates attending, Mattapoisett was represented by three delegates: Carlton Burr, State Committeeman; Toby Burr and Daune Smith. Randy Smith was one of the Sergeant of Arms for the Convention.

The keynote address was given by Jack Kemp, Congressman from New York. Rep. Kemp stated, "When you tax something you get less of it. When you subsidize something you get more of it. In America today we are taxing work, savings, investments, enterprise and excellence as never before. And we are subsidizing non-work, consumption, debt, leisure and mediocrity. Is it any surprise that we are getting less of one and more of the other?"

John Lakian was nominated for Governor on the first ballot, with 56.5 percent of the delegate vote, defeating House Minority Leader William G. Robinson. Lakian, a newcomer to politics, faced the experience issue squarely and said achievements in an individual's life should be considered as preparation for government service. John Lakian grew up in a triple decker in Worcester, completed college in less than three years, fought in Vietnam and made a million dollars by age 37. He is now 39.

Dear Bonnie:

We are restoring an old house. After removing many layers of wallpaper we have uncovered the old sand-finish plaster. It has some cracks and a few gouges. We don't want modern hard-finish plaster. But we do admire the uneven looking walls in the adobe houses of the southwest and also the rustic white-washed look of some early American restorations. Is there something we can do ourselves?

Right now we are . . .

He said he was the candidate "to show the Independents and Democrats that we Republicans have the ideas for tomorrow."

Ray Shamie ran against Dr. Mildred F. Jefferson, who has been a national leader in the movement against legalized abortion, for the convention endorsement for United States Senator. Shamie won by a 3 to 1 margin and if he wins the State Primary in September will face Senator Edward Kennedy in November.

Endorsements for the following officers were by acclamation: Lt. Governor, Leon J. Lombardi; Attorney General, Judge Henry Chmielinxki, Jr.; Secretary of State, Jody Deroma Dow; State Treasurer, Mary LeClair; State Auditor, Michael Robertson.

Massachusetts Republicans will support the following principles:

1. Work to create a climate for maximum job opportunities.

2. Promote an educational system which will equip students with the skills and judgement needed for tomorrow's challenges.

3. Improve the effectiveness of our public safety system to better protect citizens in their homes and on the streets.

4. Insist that a goal of programs to serve the needy must be to protect their dignity and promote their growth toward independence.

5. Develop a management capacity which can reverse the growth of our bloated state bureaucracy and reduce the taxes which support it.

6. Support the implementation of the constitutional provision for home rule so as to end unreasonable state interference with local government.

Republicans pledge to promote a state government which rewards initiative, promotes free enterprise, but never loses sight of its accountability and responsiveness to

Tobey Basketball Winner

TOBEY DOWNS JORDAN 56-52

The Tobey and Jordan Hospital Basketball Teams took to the floor again this year Thursday night at the Wareham High School with Tobey winning in a hard fought game. Both teams played with heart and savvy the entire game. At one time in the second period Tobey had a ten point spread, the largest throughout the four quarters. Jordan rallied in the fourth period and came within two points with 3 minutes and 12 seconds remaining; however, fouls were to prove the difference in the long run as the tempo accelerated greatly in the waning minutes.

Steve York and Paul Cardoza both had fifteen points for Tobey Hospital; for Jordan Hospital, Roger Brightman was top scorer with 10 points along with John McLellan who likewise had 10 points.

The game was well attended and was well received by the audience, which was most

Taste of Honey: Shakespeare

The Institute on Health and Long Life of Southeastern Massachusetts University has scheduled a spring offering of its Taste of Honey program. Entitled "A Sampling of Shakespeare," the series will feature six lectures and discussions designed to introduce participants to two of Shakespeare's major works with emphasis on how to read and view a play by Shakespeare. The program, which begins on March 23 and runs for six consecutive Tuesdays from 3 to 4 p.m., will be held in room 221 of the Group I Building on the SMU campus in North Dartmouth.

The lecturer for the program will be Earl J. Dias, professor emeritus of English at SMU, former chairman of the English department, and drama and music critic for the New Bedford Standard-Times.

The Institute is an independent activity within the Division of Continuing Studies at SMU. It has offered cultural-enrichment courses in art, literature, and music since 1977. "A Sampling of Shakespeare" will be the fourteenth such offering.

SMU LECTURE ON JEWS UNDER THE NAZIS

"Jewish Images in Nazi Mass Media" will be the subject of a talk by Professor Richard S. Geehr at Southeastern Massachusetts University on March 23.

The lecture, previously scheduled for December 7, was cancelled because of snow. Tickets for that date will be honored for the March talk.

Geehr, who teaches history at Bentley College, will speak at 7:30 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Group VI (College of Visual and Performing Arts) Building.

The lecture will take a look at Nazi-influenced media perceptions of the Jew between the years 1920 and 1944. Slides and excerpts from films of the era will be shown.

The lecture is a presentation of the SMU Center for Jewish Culture which operates under the auspices of the University's Division of Continuing Studies.

Tickets are available at the door. "Friends-of-Judaica" members and SMU students will be admitted free. For further information call Kevin Garganta, center coordinator, at 999-8778 or 678-7521, extension 8778.

The show is an annual event sponsored by the Massachusetts Horticultural Society.

The theme of this year's show is "Gardening Around the World". Plimoth Plantation and Lexington Gardens will present "Early American Gardening at Plimoth Plantation".

The exhibit will include eight raised planting beds containing a variety of vegetables, herbs and flowers. There will also be a muck heap. The garden will surround a facade of a 17th century Pilgrim house, and the entire exhibit will be contained within a period wattle fence.

The house facade and fence are the handiwork of specialists in pre-industrial woodworking technology and technique at Plimoth Plantation.

"Although the gardens of the New World in North America are more functional than ornamental in the 17th century, their tidiness and symmetry reflect their English heritage," said Darlene Beauvais, Plantation herbalist and designer of the garden exhibit. "These gardens also reflect adaptions made by the English gardeners to the New England climate."

Beauvais is a well-known gardening consultant on the south shore. She designed and maintains the garden at the South Shore Natural Science Center, is a gardening catalog consultant, and lectures on general

Mattapoisett Water Department Notice: Water Rate Changes

The Board of Water Commissioners regret that after holding the same rates for the last (3) years, it is necessary to order a small increase in order to not add to the property tax burden. Charges are as follows:

Minimum charge each 6 month period from $15.00 to $18.00 (.50 cents per month).

Excess charge from $5.00 to $6.00 per 1,000 cubic feet (7,480 gallons).

SATURDAY PROGRAM - THE STORY OF FIBERS

Where does fiber come from? Children often don't realize the source of the fibers their clothes are made from. The story of fibers, their origins in plants and animals, and their journey into finished cloth is fascinating and eye-opening. On March 6th at 2:00 p.m. SMU weaving major Terry Buck will give a program on the story of fibers, natural and synthetic. She will bring all types of fibers and conduct a fiber ID game that the children can bring home. Also, she will demonstrate how fiber is dyed naturally and talk on how fabric is printed. This program is open to six year olds and up. There is a small charge for non-members.
